

PARISH SHARE EXPLAINED

“We value generosity and give and receive sincerely.”

Your Parish Share in 2024

† TRANSFORMING CHURCH.
TOGETHER.

A LETTER FROM YOUR ARCHDEACONS

To all God's people serving in the Diocese of Bristol,

All over the Diocese there are amazing examples of generosity in action. People alongside those who are coming to faith in Christ, and going deeper in faith. People who give their skills to run drop-in cafes, offer the gift of presence in children's work, and volunteer to be welcoming in open churches. Many give of their resources through hospitality, and financial donations from parishioners account for most of our churches' income.

Your giving makes these ministries possible.

God's economy is amazing because it is based on grace and generosity – of which Parish Share is a great example. Parish Share embodies our belief that God blesses us abundantly, and so we can give generously towards Christ's work. Those who have much are able to support those who have little, with the result that vital ministry can be offered in every part of the Diocese. This draws us together as a community of Christians giving thanks for God's goodness. We hope that as you pray through your church's gift this year, you will feel blessed by being part of this movement of generosity.

Thank you for all you offer, as individuals and congregations, to resource God's work across the Diocese of Bristol.

Archdeacon Neil and Archdeacon Christopher

‘God who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will also supply and increase your store of seed and will enlarge the harvest of your righteousness.

You will be enriched in every way so that you can be generous on every occasion, and through us your generosity will result in thanksgiving to God.

This service that you perform is not only supplying the needs of the Lord's people but is also overflowing in many expressions of thanks to God.’

2 Corinthians 9:10-12

THE STORY SO FAR

You asked for a clearer and more transparent methodology for Parish Share.

Last year, focus groups and a survey sent to every parish provided us with excellent feedback on what your parishes need in this area.

You asked for more information on on:

- how the costs are worked out
- how they compare nationally and
- the costs and benefits of shared support from Hillside House

We delivered a new calculation, which was fairer, more transparent and simple.

The calculation considers the cost of local stipendiary ministry, as well as asking every parish to contribute a fixed percentage of their unrestricted income towards shared costs.

It reflects the local situation.

The cost of stipendiary ministry is adjusted, depending on the average household income of the area. Larger income churches are asked to make an additional contribution to make ministry happen everywhere. The national church also provides a “Low Income Community grant” providing essential support.

Some parishes will be asked for significantly more as they move towards a fairer and proportionate contribution. Transitional arrangements are staying in place this year, to help them do this, with phased increases over a number of years.

Some parishes will find their request lower – although we are asking them to maintain their generosity to enable vital ministry.

Having listened to your feedback, we are not sending out benefice-wide requests this year. Parishes within a benefice may still wish to support one another in meeting their share.

Reserves are not part of the calculation, but attention will be drawn to them where appropriate.

HOW COSTS ARE WORKED OUT

Parish Share = Income adjusted Stipendiary costs + Income adjusted Shared costs

Stipendiary Costs

In Bristol Diocese stipends for 2024 are set at £28,718, just over the national benchmark. Pension payments are around £10,000, and housing cost per incumbent are just under £11,000. Adding National Insurance brings cost per full-time stipendiary post to just over £50,000.

Shared Costs

The diocese spends around £4.3m on shared costs:

- £1.85m a year on training future ordinands and providing curates training.
- £2.47m on the people and teams that support you to deliver transformational ministry across the diocese. This includes help with buildings, recruitment, safeguarding, and other day-to-day support - see pages 6 and 7.

COMPARING COSTS NATIONALLY

Where parishes are asked for considerably more than their previous pledge in order to reach a fair and proportionate contribution, a transitional arrangement will be made, giving agreed and staged increases over forthcoming years.

Naturally, whilst parishes recover their own parish share it is diocesan funds and other parishes that cover the gap – that's why it's critical that over the next five years all parishes are able to meet the new calculations.

Costs are fairly typical nationally, but diocesan income varies greatly. Dioceses with historic assets can subsidise parishes significantly, so Parish Share varies across dioceses. Bristol Diocese is not historically wealthy, but has enough diocesan income and grants to cover most shared costs, so parishes are only asked to contribute a small proportion of these.

The diocese is currently operating with a significant annual cash deficit even though we run cost-effective small teams.

Through the generosity of parishes and by exploring new funding sources, it's very much hoped that this deficit can be brought into balance by 2028.

WORKING FOR YOU

As the Diocese of Bristol, we work together creatively and cost-effectively...

Mission and Ministry Support team

Provide ongoing training and support to clergy and LLMs and SSMs. We also run the process for discernment, and support ordinands and curates.

Property team

Provide and maintain all the housing provided to clergy and curates. Also manage vacant properties, rentals, and a small amount of glebe land.

Governance, Finance, Administration teams

Governance (which includes the DAC) includes managing applications for faculty and providing advice as needed, and the legal process for reorganisations etc. The finance team manage payroll (for clergy as well as diocesan staff), invoices and accounts and provide treasurer support and training. Hillside House is used for diocesan training events - the admin team will probably welcome you on the door! The DAC secretary is ably supported by the volunteers on the DAC.

People & Safeguarding team

We look after the wellbeing of paid employees, and offer training and support to parishes, including advice on matters of mental health*, disability* and racial justice*. The safeguarding team administer the checking procedures and are first point of contact for escalation.

Environment & Sustainability team*

The Environment & Sustainability team is in place to help parishes work towards

Transformation team*

Builds the foundations on which the diocese invests in working collaboratively. Reimagines the way we form relationships, which bring more people to Christ and implement transformational and cultural change.

External Relations team

Provide diocesan-wide fundraising, comms, partnership engagement strategies and advice. Produce content and run the outward-facing online channels, liaise with the media and answer media enquiries.

Education team

Support for church schools and governors, including appointments, resources, training and advice. Provide resources and advice for church schools.

Chief Executive Officer

The Diocesan Secretary provides leadership, management and accountability for Diocesan Support Services.

When appropriate, the role also represents the diocese externally (nationally and locally), and supports Bishop's Council and Synod in their role of advising and supporting the Bishop.

Creativity

Parish Share makes ministry possible everywhere, through youth clubs, community gardens, kids work, sports events, mentoring programmes, breakfast church and more!

Your openness, generosity, bravery and creativity bring our shared vision of 'humanity reconciled, creation restored' to life throughout the Diocese of Bristol.

Through Parish Share, you are playing your part in providing ministry in every community in the diocese.

Thank you.
